6 Contingent Assets and Liabilities

Securities Lending

The company, on behalf of the funds carries out securities lending transactions. Financial assets are loaned to third parties or transferred under a repurchase agreement. This is done at a fixed price and not the value of the asset that has been withdrawn because in economic terms all the risk and benefits associated with the asset are preserved. This includes credit risk, settlement risk, country risk and market risk. The assets are transferred in return for cash collateral or other financial assets.

AEGON Investment Management B.V. and TKP Investments B.V. each have separate Securities Lending mandates. Based on these mandates AEGON Custody B.V. will carry out securities lending where the legal ownership of assets will be transferred to a third party.

The cash and non-cash collateral received is always greater than the value of the securities loaned. Cash Collateral and non-cash collateral is included in the financial statements of the funds. The income for securities lending after deduction of expenses benefits these funds.

The following table reflects the amounts of cash and non-cash financial assets that have been transferred to another party under securities lending and repurchase activity.
